Thank you for your order, GARY PRINGLE.

We are currently processing your order, #11714503, placed on 12/18/20 and wanted to take this opportunity to provide you with some important information.

The estimated ship date of 12/25/20 assumes all items on your order are in stock at our fulfillment location. Occasionally, we run into unexpected delays during the fulfillment process. Should this occur, we will notify you with the appropriate details and options available.

Important Note: If the item you ordered showed the availability designated as 'Limited availability - May not be in stock at the time of order. No backorders.' and it is still in stock, your order should be shipped within the timeframe noted above. If, however, the inventory was sold out before your order was processed, you will be notified via email that the product is no longer available. Because of the nature of these products, limited availability items are not backordered.

Even though your order may be shipped in separate boxes, you will only be charged the shipping amount indicated below. Your credit card will not be charged until the order has shipped. When your order has been shipped, you will receive an email confirmation with the appropriate tracking information.

Thank you for shopping Micro Center Online. We hope you visit again soon.
